By Jamie Baker-Nantz
Editor

Storme Vanover is on a mission – again and it's all about honoring veterans, a mission that as a veteran she is passionate about.

When Vanover, of Williamstown, found out that the deadline had passed for Grant County to be part of the Wreaths

HOW CAN I HELP?

- Donations can be made at the Bank of Kentucky.

North in Williamstown.

“We had been told it had been taken care of, but then found out it hadn't been and it was too late to place our order,” Vanover said.

She said some funds have been promised, but more are needed to purchase the wreaths in time for the Dec. 13 ceremony at the cemetery.

“Any money raised over what we need for this year, will be kept for next year,” she said.

Snow Go!

Grant County receives at least four inches of snow on Nov. 17, which made driving hazardous. Wrecks such as this one on Dry Ridge-Mt. Zion Road were common until road crews were able to scrap and salt the county's roads. Temperatures are expected to stay in the low 20s for the rest of the week.

Crittenden resident is back in Jeopardy

By Bryan Marshall

Crittenden resident and five-time Jeopardy champion Rani Peffer recently got a second shot to play her favorite game show.

Peffer, who won $70,701 from six episodes in November 2013, was asked to return as part of the Jeopardy Tournament of Champions.

The tournament features the top 15 winners from the Alex Trebek-hosted show since the previous Tournament of Champions.

Peffer had high hopes she would get an invite, but the corporate finance manager at Procter and Gamble was on pins and needles for about nine months.

“I kept watching my chances dwindle as more and more time passed,” said Peffer, who has two children and is married to Sean, a University of Kentucky accounting professor. “In July, I finally got an e-mail inviting me to the tournament. I was absolutely thrilled to make it. This is one of the coolest accomplishments of my life.”

Alex Trebek and Rani Peffer

Peffer filmed the show at the beginning of October as all 10 episodes for the tournament were filmed over a two-day period in Hollywood.

For her Nov. 11 appearance on the show, Peffer had a small viewing party at her house in Crittenden with a few friends and family.

“It was really different because everybody there already knew what they were doing, the questions were much harder for the tournament and the competition was ramped up to an insane level,” Peffer said about competing again on Jeopardy.

Wallace celebrates 50 years of providing pharmacy service

By Jamie Baker-Nantz

Bob Wallace is celebrating 50 years in business in Grant County, but becoming a pharmacist was purely a fluke.

“I went to college and didn't declare a major the first year,” he said from his office at Grant County Drugs in Dry Ridge, which he co-founded. “My friend went into pharmacy so I decided to try it myself. I liked it, especially meeting the people.”

Wallace hails from Butler,

Ky. just over in neighboring Pendleton County. He attended the University of Kentucky and received his degree from the College of Pharmacy in 1961.

From there he spent four years in the U.S. Navy as a corpsman pharmacist. When he returned to Kentucky in 1964, he partnered with Larry Spears to open Grant County Drugs on Main Street.

Wallace credits his brother, Cliff Wallace for helping him settle in Grant County.

Thorne promoted to Chief Warrant Officer 3

Jimmy Ray Thorne Jr., of Williamstown was promoted to Chief Warrant Officer 3 in the United States Army on Nov. 1, 2014 in Grafenberg, Germany. This promotion comes from the President of the United States for the patriotism, valor and fidelity. Warrant officers outrank all enlisted personnel, but commissioned officers outrank all warrant officers. Although various militaries have utilized warrant officers to one degree or another for the last several centuries, the history of U.S. Army warrant officers officially dates to World War I. Thorne joined the military in 1994 as a United States Marine and then joined the United States Army. Thorne is the son of Jim Thorne of Williamstown.

WORTH REPEATING:

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Fan shows what’s wrong with people

I know there are kind people in this world.

Just look at the many wonderful organizations, including the Salvation Army, American Red Cross and H.O.P.E. (Helping Out People Everywhere,) that help Grant County residents in need every year.

Even small gestures, such as holding a door open for someone or donating canned goods, show how strong the human spirit can be and how goodness lies in most people.

Then, of course, there are other instances that prove that some people are just mean-spirited and not kind-hearted at all.

In case you are not a sports fan or happen to miss the Bengals game against the New Orleans Saints this weekend, one such example of the bad side of the humanity coin.

In the third-quarter of the Bengals victory, tight end Jermaine Gresham caught a touchdown pass to put Cincinnati up 19-3.

Despite playing on the road, Gresham located two female Bengals fans — Christa Barrett and Cara Meadows — behind the end zone who were pleading for the player to toss them the ball as a keepsake.

Gresham generously obliged and tossed the ball to Barrett, a native of Versailles who now lives in New Orleans.

That’s when things got ugly.

A Saints fan, identified as Tony Williams, leapt from his seat while the ball was on its way to Barrett and snatched the ball away from her grasp.

Video of the incident, which went viral immediately, shows the testy Saints fan nearly elbowing Barrett in the face as he bumps into her to retrieve the ball.

The two Bengals fans asked politely for the ball back to no avail.

“He kept saying, ‘No, ma’am,” Meadows told the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Williams was steadfast in his defense.

Bryan

Staff Writer

“I didn’t mean to hit that young lady,” Williams added. “I was just reaching for the ball.”

Even Saints fans did not appreciate the actions from one of their own.

According to reports, chants of “Give her the ball!” could be heard coming from the section.

The sports broadcasters even commented on the dirty play by the unruly fan after a commercial break.

Likely wanting to head off any bad publicity while losing to the Bengals, the Saints organization to their credit quickly went into the stands and presented Barrett with another ball.

After the game, Gresham and other Bengals players commented how awful the fan’s actions were.

Gresham himself sent a message on social message to the fans apologizing that they did not get the ball.

The tight end said he would make sure they received something greater as compensation.

The real question is, why would a Saints fan want a ball used in a touchdown by their team’s opponent.

I could see if it was two Saints fans wrestling for the ball.

But, did he plan to put it on his mantel at home, explaining to visitors that this was the TD ball that helped defeat the Saints?

It makes no sense.

According to reports, Williams later revealed that he wanted the ball not for himself, but for his young grandson who was in a nearby section.

OK, that makes it worse.

IF, and that is a big IF, that is the truth, what kind of role model and grandfather does that make him?

“Here you go grandson, I got you an official NFL game ball that a touchdown was scored with.”

“Thanks, grandpa.”

“No problem. I would do anything for you, even if I have to push a young lady and steal a ball from her, all the while making myself look like an idiot on national TV.”

“You are the best, grandpa!”

I know sports fans can get a little crazy at times.

Trust me, you do not want to be anywhere near me when the UK basketball teams is playing, especially if they are losing.

I also realize that sports memorabilia is wildly popular among fans.

I personally witnessed pushing, shoving and a borderline stampede trying to get my eldest son an autograph during the Bengals training camp this summer.

But, people need to keep things in perspective.

Was that football really worth stealing not only the ball but a memory from a deserving Bengals fan who it was intended for?

Was it worth making yourself look like a buffoon?

Was it worth having to explain your actions to your real or imaginary grandson?

Even if the cameras were not on and the incident received a national spotlight, do you really not have the decency to do what is right and kind?

Maybe not and that is what is really wrong with some people in this world.

GUEST COLUMN

Honor Flight to Washington, D.C. is special

On Tuesday, Oct. 21, 2014, I had the privilege to accompany my father, Ulysses S. Noe on the Tri-State Honor Flight to Washington D.C.

Noe is a World War II veteran and a retired Navy Seabee. He proudly served his country for 27 years. He was at the invasion of Normandy and was part of the liberation of Italy.

After the Atlantic War ended, he was then sent to be a part of the Pacific campaign against the Japanese.

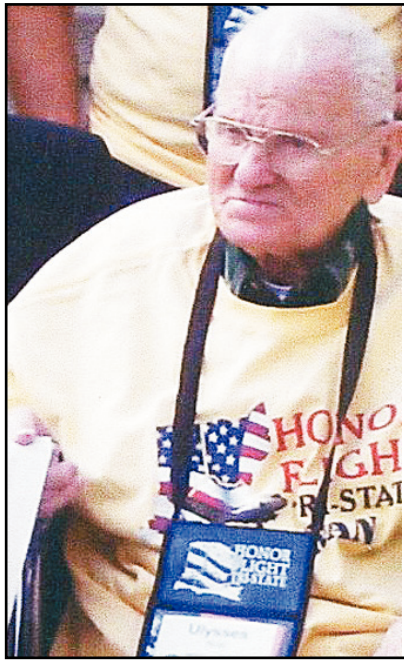

The Honor Flight is a sight to be seen. The honor and accolades that were given to these men and women of the greatest generation is something to see and participate.

The opening ceremonies began at 6 a.m. at the Northern Kentucky/ Greater Cincinnati Airport. There were 71 veterans, 71 guardians, medics and leaders of the group. A huge American flag was passed over the heads of the veterans.

A bagpipe brigade accompanied us as we made our way to the gate. All along the way, the veterans were hailed as heroes.

The plane of veterans and guardians were given a water salute by a local fire department. As we taxied to the terminal in Washington for our day of reflection and memories, we were once again saluted with a water salute by a fire department in that city.

The veterans were greeted by a men’s choir singing patriotic songs as they departed the plane. As the veterans walked or were wheeled in wheelchairs through the terminal, they were greeted with cheers from the crowd.

We then loaded three buses to be transported to Arlington National Cemetery for the changing of the guards and wreath laying ceremony, the Iwo Jima Memorial, the Air Force Memorial, Vietnam Memorial, Korean Memorial, Lincoln Memorial and finally the World War II Memorial.

At each and every memorial the veterans were greeted by men, women and children of various ages. They were given letters written by school children.

One woman from France came up to my father and thanked him for her freedom. As we walked into a restaurant in the evening, the veterans were greeted with applause and cheers from about 50 or 60 patrons of the restaurant who spontaneously sang “God Bless America.”

The culminating act came at the Northern Kentucky/ Greater Cincinnati Airport late Tuesday night.

After deplaning, the procession of veterans were escorted by the windpipe brigade through the terminal to a waiting crowd of 300 or more of friends, relatives and strangers welcoming the heroes back home. There were balloons, candy, banners, posters, handshakes and hugs and kisses for these heroes.

If you know a WWII/Korean veteran, consider this an honor. My father was astounded by the heroes welcome that he received everywhere we went.

I had tears in my eyes many times throughout the day. It was so heartwarming to see these veterans who fought for our freedoms given the honors that they so richly deserve.

If you don’t know a veteran, I would encourage you to apply to be a guardian and join in on a day that will enrich your life.

DOWN AND DIRTY

Winter garden clean up

Cooler temperatures, a touch of frost and some freezing overnight temperatures are all timely because it allows our plants to make the transition into dormancy. The winter chill is a bit early but it is inevitable; and predictions call for another memorable one. So, for our plants the best scenario is to stay cool so they can do what they are supposed to do this time of the year.

Temperature and day length are the primary factors that trigger dormancy and once plants are on track we can start doing some things to get the garden ready for winter. For example, if you need to prune boxwood or Taxus hedges do so after a first killing frost. If you prune too early, you will stimulate new growth that will not have sufficient time to harden off before winter. Dead tips on evergreen hedges are unsightly plus a dead tip on woody growth creates an open door for opportunistic insects and disease looking for a place to spend the winter.

Digging and dividing while cleaning up herbaceous plant debris is a nice combo-chore. Root growth continues as long as the soil temperature is above about 50 degrees so dividing perennials now allows the plants to reestablish a root system before January and February (traditionally our coldest months). It also means they are established before they have to push new growth in the spring.

Jeneen
WICHE
Weekend Gardener

Once the perennial beds are cleaned up and rearranged consider putting down a layer of coarse mulch if needed. Mulch really does go a long way in moderating soil moisture, temperature and controlling weeds. There are a great many cool season weeds that germinate, grow and flower during this slow time in the garden and if we mulch we will be one step closer to better weed management in the garden. Coarser textured mulch like pine straw or pine bark nuggets is better than the common shredded bark mulch because it allows for better water and oxygen penetration.

Prepping soil for winter; spring planting

The same goes for the vegetable garden. For most of us, by now there are more weeds in the vegetable patch than vegetable debris (this year was a remarkably weedy year by most accounts). If we take time to do a little cultivating while we clean up the old tomato, bean and pepper plants we will be that much closer to a healthier and cleaner garden come spring. After you pull out old plants turn the soil and pile on the composted manure. If you have well composted manure then weeds should not be a problem but if you think that weed seed is present you can sprinkle some corn gluten on top, which will prevent cool season weeds from germinating. In April, before spring prep begins, turn the soil again and you will be ready to go.

Pruning chores for woody plants can be done during the dormant months as well. But there are several things to consider. Don't do any pruning of spring flowering shrubs because they set buds on early season growth that occurs before the month of July. Azaleas, rhododendrons and many viburnum species are included in this category and should be pruned right after they finish blooming in the spring instead.

Big leaf hydrangeas (H. macrophylla) can be the most confounding: they bloom on the previous season's growth and since they are more susceptible to winter and early spring damage we sometimes miss a season of bloom despite our timely pruning. Clean these up after they finish blooming in spring and summer but be sure to save the current season's growth for next year's bloom. Annabelle hydrangeas bloom on new wood so you can prune all the way to the ground if you choose.

Other woody plants and trees can be pruned in winter but if you need to do heavy pruning wait to do so in late winter. Pruning just before spring growth begins is ideal because the threat of insect infestation is over and the plant has the ability to heal more efficiently as it prepares to break dormancy. We prune trees all winter long just to keep up with our chores, so don't be afraid to remove structurally inappropriate, dead or infected wood or crossing branches when the opportunity presents itself this winter.

ADAM H. EDELEN
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

To the People of Kentucky
Honorable Steven L. Beshear, Governor
Lori H. Flanery, Secretary
Finance and Administration Cabinet
Honorable Darrell L. Link, Grant County Judge/Executive
Members of the Grant County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

Report on the Financial Statement
We have audited the accompanying Statement of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Cash Balances and Cash Equivalents - Regulatory Basis of Grant County, Kentucky, for the year ended June 30, 2013, and the related notes to the financial statement.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statement
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of this financial statement in accordance with accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Department for Local Government to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting and budget laws. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of a financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States and the Audit Guide for Fiscal Court Audits issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
As described in more fully in Note 1, the financial statement is prepared by Grant County, Kentucky on the basis of the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Department for Local Government to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting and budget laws, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of Grant County, Kentucky as of June 30, 2013, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the cash balances and cash equivalents of Grant County, Kentucky as of June 30, 2013, and its cash receipts and disbursements, for the year then ended, in accordance with the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Department for Local Government described in Note 1.

Emphasis of Matters
As discussed in Note 11 to the financial statement, in fiscal year 2013, the Grant County Fiscal Court adopted new accounting guidance on a regulatory basis. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

As discussed in Note 1 to the financial statement, the Grant County Fiscal Court would have included some component entities under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) as established by the Government Accounting Standards Board. However, under the regulatory basis they are no longer are required components of the reporting entity. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Other Matters
Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the financial statement taken as a whole of Grant County, Kentucky. The budgetary comparison schedules and capital asset schedule are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the financial statement. The budgetary comparison schedules have been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statement and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statement or to the financial statement itself, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the budgetary comparison schedules are fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statement. The capital asset schedule has not been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statement and, accordingly, we do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on it.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated April 14, 2014 on our consideration of Grant County, Kentucky's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

Based on the results of our audit, we present the accompanying comments and recommendations included herein, which discusses the following report comments:

Start looking for things to be thankful

When I served a church in Mississippi, I was the recipient of an amazing gift. A couple in my church knew that I was a fan (fanatical and crazy...according to my wife) of the Kentucky Wildcats. They came to me after church one day and said, “Barry, we know how much you love Kentucky and though we can’t stand them, we want to give you two tickets to a basketball game between the Mississippi State Bulldogs and the Kentucky Wildcats.

I thanked them over and over and then told them that Kentucky was going to whoop the Bulldogs (we won on a last second tip in!). I was so thankful for those tickets. But let’s play pretend. Could you imagine what it would be like if when they gave me those tickets I said, “What! Upper deck, how am I supposed to see from all the way up there! These are terrible seats! And what about the traffic, I bet you I have to park a mile away. Don’t you know I have a bum knee! And those seats are so hard...” Now how do you think that couple would feel toward me if instead of saying thank you for the tickets I leaped into a tirade of complaints? Do you think they’d be mad? Do you think they would ever give me another gift?

Let’s transition. How do you think God reacts when we do the same to Him? If we constantly grumble and complain, God is displeased with us, in fact displeased is much too light of a word. God is down right mad at us. When the children of Israel complained about their hardships, God was so displeased that He sent fire down from heaven and it consumed those who were on the outskirts of the camp (aren’t you glad that doesn’t meat to eat! We were better off in Egypt!” Now the Lord will give you meat, and you will eat it. 19 You will not eat it for just one day, or two days, or five, 10 or 20 days but for a whole month--until it comes out of your nostrils and you loathe it--because you have rejected the Lord, who is among you, and have wailed before him, saying, “Why did we ever leave Egypt?” Talk about getting just what you asked for.

But it shows us that God is displeased when we have a grumbling attitude. God allows some leniency when we complain when it is warranted. In other words, don’t take this to mean that we should never take our problems to God. When Moses complained about having to deal with the complaining Israelites (and who wouldn’t!),

God understood and God answered his request by pouring His Spirit on some elders so that they could help Moses bear the burden of the people. God understood what Moses was dealing with, and He helped Moses when Moses cried out.

And when you are in need, God wants to hear about those needs. The Apostle Paul says that we are to “Cast all your anxieties on God for He cares for you.”

God wants to hear our troubles, and we are to lay our burdens down upon Him, but there is a difference between telling God your troubles and being ungrateful for what He has done for you. The Israelites were ungrateful for all that God had done. Here God had rescued the people from the bondage of slavery, He had provided for their needs, He gave them manna from heaven, and how do they repay God, not by saying thank you, but by complaining.

It’s sad, but you know what is even sadder...that after all these years that same attitude is typical of our experiences. So instead of looking at all the things you can gripe about, start looking at things you can be thankful for. Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good and His mercy endures forever.

Woody: We're All Ears

Chapter 10

“OK, Chloe,” I said, giving my best pep talk as we waited to be called onstage to perform our song and dance. “It’s the moment of truth. Remember, whatever happens, we did our best.”

“Contestant number 27,” we heard the announcer say. Chloe and I walked onstage and looked at the three judges. One judge was the governor of Kentucky, another was a cute blond girl who’d starred in several movies, and the third judge was a local guy from the electric company. We sang a medley of folk songs. We started with Hot Corn, Cold Corn, then transitioned into Big Rock Candy Mountain, and finished off with Honey in the Rock. Since Dad had bought me a contraption that held the harmonica to my mouth, I was able to sing, play the harmonica and the dulcimer at the same time while Chloe clogged.

I kept a groovin’ rhythm going, making sure the beat was not too fast or not too slow. In camp we learned that even while we are playing music, we must listen. Chloe listened carefully and clogged perfectly to the beat. The judges had smiles on their faces, and I saw the guy from the electric company tapping his feet and trying to stay in rhythm with us! As we held out the last note on the harmonica and dulcimer, the audience gave us a rousing ovation. We even heard a deep voice in the back yell “encore!”

Soon all of the contestants stood onstage waiting for the judges to tally the results. As I waited for the emcee to announce the Craftiest Kentuckian grand champion, I thought about the past several weeks. Oddly enough, a man we first misjudged as a burglar who was stealing ended up being a generous man who gave us so much.

“Ladies, gentlemen, we have a winner for the 2014 Craftiest Kentuckian grand champion.” The crowd cheered. “Honorable mention goes to ...”

Thanks to Mr. B., we had learned about the rich ancestry of Kentucky. We now understood how immigrants from Scotland, Ireland, Germany and England settled in the Appalachian Mountains of Kentucky. Life was much harder for them than it is for us now. While I had everything I needed, these folks didn’t even have necessities like brooms. They had to use the resources from Mother Nature to create those necessities -- and not only did they make them useful, they made them beautiful. Those beautiful and useful creations are now our treasured folk art.

“The Craftiest Kentuck-

ian Third-Place Award goes to ...”

More than anything, I was so thankful our ancestors loved and cared for the stories, music, art, medicine, hobbies and traditions so much that they made sure to pass them down through generations for hundreds of years. I was going to do my part to make sure they continued to be passed down.

“The Craftiest Kentuckian Second-Place Award goes to ...”

Still, I couldn’t put my finger on one specific thing that made Kentucky so special. And then it came to me. Too excited to wait and tell Chloe after the awards, I whispered to her as we stood on stage. “Chloe, it isn’t one thing that makes Kentucky so special, it’s many things. It’s the different regions, the different landscape, the different dialect and different talents. It’s our resources, our traditions, and most of all it’s our people -- people who love Kentucky and are proud of its history and heritage. It’s the people who give back to Kentucky since Kentucky’s given so much to them.”

“And now for the grand prize. The winner will be invited to the Governor’s Mansion, preside as grand marshal of the state parade, be an honored guest at the Kentucky Derby, and receive two nights at a Kentucky state park. Ladies and gentlemen, the 2014 Craftiest Kentuckian grand champion is ...”

“I am so proud to be part of the rich tradition and heritage of Kentucky. Aren’t you, Chloe? Just thinking about it gives me goose bumps.”

Obviously I was whispering too loud because the emcee said, “Contestant number 27, have you heard a word I’ve spoken?”

There were chuckles from the entire room. I looked at Chloe and she smiled. Embarrassed, I cleared my throat and said, “No, sir. I’m sorry. I was just thinking about our state and telling my sister how proud I am to be a Kentuckian.”

“That’s very nice, son, but do you think you could stop talking for a moment while I announce the grand champion for the second time?” the emcee asked as he winked and smiled. “Are you two ready to listen?”

“Yes, sir,” I said proudly. “We’re all ears!”

THE END

Thanks for reading the 2014 newspaper chapter story. We hope you collected each chapter and made the We're All Ears book to read over and over. We hope you enjoyed learning about our state as much as we did. ~ Woody and Chloe

Soon the tiger has dispatched all but Pi, whose fear, knowledge, and cunning allow him to coexist with Richard Parker for 227 days while lost at sea. When they finally reach the coast of Mexico, Richard Parker flees to the jungle, never to be seen again. The Japanese authorities who interrogate Pi refuse to believe his story and press him to tell them "the truth." After hours of coercion, Pi tells a second story, a story much less fantastical, much more conventional—but is it more true?

Winter high school sports are getting ready to kick into high gear, which in Kentucky and Grant County means one thing - basketball.

Grant County High School held their annual Blue/Gold Madness on Nov. 14 for a chance to meet the boy's and girl's teams and have some fun.

"We had a great crowd here tonight," boys coach Brandon Grammer said. "It's a lot of fun for the kids and the crowd. I think it's good for the community to see what we're doing here."

Grammer also said it is good for everyone to see both programs at one time because their games are often on the same days and most fans will usually see one or the other the rest of the season.

Coach Shawn West, the girl's head coach echoed many of the sentiments.

"We tried to spice it up in the beginning, (laser lights, a spot light and fog machine during team introductions, and a dunking contest)," West said. "It was a good opportunity for our girls to get out and showcase the hard work they've been doing. We're looking forward to the season and competing with someone other than ourselves."

The dunking contest was one of three contests that were held.

The first contest was a skills challenge pitting the boys against the girls.

The contest was won by Austin Johnson, who made his way through the skills course faster than the girl's participant, Shelby Harmeyer.

Next up was the three-point shooting contest where the boy's Joey Saylor hit 10 of 15 shots behind the arc to best the girl's EJ Kearns.

The final contest, and judging by the crowd reaction the favorite, was the dunking contest.

This one came down to the Brave's two big men, Jordan Saylor and Austin Schneider.

Both used their imaginations to try to sway the judges and the crowd.

Schnieder jumped over two standing cheerleaders on his way to the basket but missed.

Saylor jumped over a student seated in a chair reading a newspaper on his way and jammed the ball for the win.

After the contests, the girl's and the boy's teams alternated and scrimmaged.

This gave all the players a chance to get out on the floor and play in front of the crowd.

Here was the reaction of some of the seniors who were participating in Blue/Gold madness for the final time:

"I enjoyed the opportunity to go out and play with my team for Blue/Gold night, so I will definitely miss this event. It's just a great time to be with my teammates and my coaches," Macy Wright said.

"Honestly, it's crazy to think that it's my final Blue/Gold madness. I enjoy every minute I'm with my teammates. Let's kick this season off with a bang," Karlyn McCoy said.

The proceeds from the program raised over $500 for a charity that helps teens with drug addictions.

The Lady Braves open the regular season Dec. 1 at home vs. Pendleton County, and the boys open up the next night, Dec. 2 vs. Ryle at home.

Official Notice

Blue Grass Energy Cooperative Corporation, with its principal office at Nicholasville, Kentucky and with its address at PO Box 990 1201 Lexington Road Nicholasville, Kentucky 40340 has filed with the Kentucky Public Service Commission in Case No. 2014-00339 an application to adjust its retail rates and charges. The rates are to be filed with the Kentucky Public Service Commission on November 18, 2014 and are effective December 18, 2014. Phase two for the residential and farm rate classes will become effective approximately one year later. Temporary and/or Seasonal Electric Service - Rider TS

Availability of Service:

Current: This rider is available at the option of the Customer where Customer’s business does not require permanent installation of Company’s facilities and is of such nature to require:

- only seasonal service or temporary service, including service provided for construction of residences or commercial buildings, and where in the judgment of Company the local and system electrical facility capacities are adequate to serve the load without impairment of service to other customers; or
 - where Customer has need for temporary use of Company facilities and Company has facilities it is willing to provide.
- This service is available for not less than one (1) month (approximately 30 days), but when service is used longer than one (1) month, any fraction of a month’s use will be prorated for billing purposes.

- Proposed: This rider is available at the option of Company where:

Energy Charge per kWh:
Off-Peak Hours	$0.05587

Proposed – This rate schedule is proposed to be eliminated. The Company will make all reasonable efforts to contact Rate LEV customers to advise them of their new rate options after the Commission approves the new rates but before they take effect (at which time Rate LEV will terminate). Because Rate RTOD-Energy is the new rate most similar to Rate LEV, the Company will automatically transfer to Rate RTOD-Energy all Rate LEV customers who have not responded to the Company’s outreach efforts by the effective date of the new rates; however, the Company will continue to make reasonable efforts to obtain those customers’ input even after the rate change.

Economic Development Rider – Rider EDR

Current: Company’s Budget Payment Plan is available to any residential customer or general service customer. Under this plan, a customer may elect to pay, each billing period, a budgeted amount in lieu of billings for actual usage. A customer may enroll in the plan at any time.

Proposed:

Company’s Budget Payment Plan is available to any residential customer served under Residential Service Rate RS or any general service customer served under General Service Rate GS. If a residential customer, who is currently served under Residential Service Rate RS and is currently enrolled in the Budget Payment Plan, elects to take service under Residential Time-of-Day Energy Service Rate RTOD-Energy or Residential Time-of-Day Demand Service Rate RTOD-Demand, such customer would be removed from the Budget Payment Plan and restored to regular billing. Under this plan, a customer may elect to pay, each billing period, a budgeted amount in lieu of billings for actual usage. A customer may enroll in the plan at any time.

Kentucky Utilities Company also proposes to change the text of the following electric tariffs: Residential Service Rate RS, General Service Rate GS, All Electric School Rate AES, Time-of-Day Primary Service Rate TODP, Retail Transmission Service Rate RTS, Lighting Service Rate LS, Restricted Lighting Service Rate RLS, Special Charges, Curtailable Service Rider CSR10, Curtailable Service Rider CSR30, Net Metering Service Rate NMS, Supplemental or Standby Service Rider SS, Temporary and/or Seasonal Service Rider TS, Economic Development Rider, Low Emission Vehicle Service Rate LEV, Demand Side Management Cost Recovery Mechanism DSM, Environmental Cost Recovery Surcharge ECR, and the Terms and Conditions.

Complete copies of the proposed tariffs containing text changes and proposed rates may be obtained by contacting Edwin R. Staton, Kentucky Utilities Company at 220 West Main Street, Louisville, Kentucky, 502-627-4314, or visiting Kentucky Utilities Company’s website at www.lge-ku.com.

NOTICE

Please take notice that Duke Energy Kentucky, Inc. has applied to the Kentucky Public Service Commission for approval to revise its Demand Side Management (DSM) rate for electric service and gas service for residential and commercial customers. Duke Energy Kentucky’s current monthly DSM rate for residential gas customers is $0.054918 per hundred cubic feet and for non-residential gas customers is $0.000000 per hundred cubic feet. Duke Energy Kentucky’s current monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers is $0.003062 per kilowatt-hour and for non-residential customers is $0.001128 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and $0.000848 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service. Duke Energy Kentucky seeks approval to revise these rates as follows: Duke Energy Kentucky’s monthly DSM rate for residential gas customers would increase to $0.111800 per hundred cubic feet and for non-residential gas customers would remain at $0.000000 per hundred cubic feet. Duke Energy Kentucky’s monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers would increase to $0.004652 per kilowatt-hour and for non-residential customers would increase to $0.001654 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and would decrease to $0.000161 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service. The rate contained in this notice is the rate proposed by Duke Energy Kentucky. However, the Public Service Commission may order a rate to be charged that differs from this proposed rate. Such action may result in a rate for consumers other than the rate in this notice. The foregoing rates reflect a proposed increase in electric revenues of approximately $1.83 million or 0.54% over current total electric revenues and an increase of $3.62 million or 3.08% over current gas revenues. A typical residential gas customer using 70 ccf in a month will see an increase of $3.98 or 4.77%. A typical residential electric customer using 1000 kWh in a month will see an increase of $1.59 or 1.80%. WREATHS

Wreaths will be purchased from a local vendor for “Wreaths for Christmas” and will be placed on the same date, time and in the same manner as the National Ceremony of Wreaths Across America.

Donations can be made at the Bank of Kentucky or by calling Vanover at 859-823-0129. Checks and credit cards will be accepted or for more information email Lorene Friedman at lfriedman@twc.com.

Donations must be received by Nov. 27.

“This ceremony means a lot to families, especially those who live far away and can’t be here,” Vanover said. “I know because I come from a whole family of veterans. No veteran should be in the cemetery without a wreath at Christmas.”

PHARMACY

“He was the band director and was involved with Kiwanis and he told me that the group wanted a pharmacy in Dry Ridge and I wanted to be in a rural area, but still close to the city so Dry Ridge it was,” Wallace said.

Customer service is key to the success of his business, Wallace said.

He believes because of that emphasis, as well as being supportive of the community, that’s why his business was able to prosper and eventually moved to a larger location at 24 S. Main in Dry Ridge in 1969, a building they still occupy today.

Jason Wallace, Bob’s son, joined the business in 1995 as a pharmacy technician. After receiving his degree as a doctor of pharmacy from UK, he joined his father in 1999 and then became a partner.

Under Jason’s leadership, Grant County Drugs opened a second location on Barnes Road, near St. Elizabeth Medical Center Grant County in Williamstown in 2004 followed by a third location on Violet Road in Crittenden in 2009.

“I was a little surprised that he followed in my footsteps,” Wallace said.

In 2013, the business expanded again to include a Medicare accredited home medical equipment showroom at the back of the Williamstown location.

In 1999, Grant County Drugs was recognized by Drug Topics magazine as an “Independent Superstar.” This national honor was given for “exceptional pharmacy and non-pharmacy service”.

Wallace said the core mission of Grant County Drugs has not changed and that is making sure they are taking care of the needs of their patients.

“I enjoy working with people and one of the reasons I think we’ve been successful is because they know we do care,” Wallace said.

In the early years with no emergency room in Grant County, the community would call their doctor and they’d call in a prescription, which meant the local pharmacist would need to come in and fill it whether it was the middle of the night or a holiday.

Wallace, along with a group of local doctors, was instrumental in successfully approaching the Grant County Fiscal Court many years ago and getting the court to agree to lease them what was Grant County Hospital. The group later negotiated with St. Elizabeth Health Care Systems to take over the hospital.

“We did that so that we could keep management local rather than the hospital being run by a group out of state,” Wallace said.

But little did he know that the facility would undergo several major expansions and be able to ultimately offer specialty physician services.

“I’d never have imagined what that facility would grow into,” Wallace said. “It’s so nice because you can go there and get many tests done and you don’t have to drive to Northern Kentucky,” he said.

There have been many changes through the years including Medicare/Medicaid, competition from mail order drug companies and computer upgrades.

“We were probably one of the first pharmacies in the state with a drive-thru window and computerized records,” Wallace said. “We used to do everything by hand and now could not operate without the computer, which helps us check for allergies and drug interactions which means better care for our customers.”

In addition to being in business, Wallace previously served on city council and as mayor of Dry Ridge. Projects under his tenure include the city’s sewer system, water tower, Piddle Park and building of Locust Ridge.

Between the three locations, Grant County Drugs employs 30.

While a shrewd businessman, Wallace is also known for an independent streak, which bodes well when small town businesses like pharmacies are often put out of business by corporate chains.

“One of the advantages of being an independent pharmacy over the chain is if I want to give medicine to a sick baby, then I go,” he said.

While he sets his own schedule these days, Bob continues to come to work every day.

He is independent and plans to stay that way.

“I don’t see myself retiring anyways soon,” Wallace said.

Bill Wessel has worked for Wallace for 26 years and said he’s an integral part of Grant County Drugs.

“He is still great with the customers and no one can replace him there,” Wessel said. “He still insists that we take care of things the right way.”

Crittenden resident Rani Pfeffer, far left, competes in the Jeopardy Tournament of Champions.

JEOPARDY : Crittenden woman returns

“On the other hand, it was less stressful than my first appearance in a way, because I had already been successful on Jeopardy once, and I felt that I could really just relax and have fun with this experience.”

Competing against previous champions was no easy task.

Pfeffer was matched up against 11-time champion Arthur Chu, who she said “is undoubtedly one of the best players ever to take the Jeopardy stage,” along with six-time champ Andrew Moore.

Pfeffer struggled at the beginning of the game, but ended the first round with a score of $2,600. Her two competitors were tied with $4,400.

After a commercial break, Trebek spoke to each of the players.

Pfeffer, who was wearing her lucky earrings from last time, explained that she had knocked three items off of her bucket list.

First, she made an appearance on Jeopardy.

Second, she was able to tour the floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

And, finally, she took tap dancing lessons.

“I’m not quitting my day job,” Pfeffer replied when Trebek asked about her dance moves.

After a rapid-fire Double Jeopardy, it was apparent it would not be Pfeffer’s game this time.

She was in third place with $3,800 heading into Final Jeopardy while Moore had $5,200 and Chu soared in front with $21,000.

Even guessing the correct response in the Oxford English Dictionary final answer did not allow Pfeffer to catch up to Chu.

Pfeffer ended in second place with $7,599, followed by Moore with $1. Chu finished with $21,000.

“I don’t think I’ve ever seen a Jeopardy board with more questions I couldn’t answer,” Pfeffer said. “I was very relieved to get the Final Jeopardy question right, but the whole game went by fast, and it was pretty stressful because of the questions and the competition. When it was over, I just wanted another crack at it.”

Despite the defeat, Pfeffer still had a chance to advance in the tournament.

The top nine quarter-finalists advance to the semi-finals.

Unfortunately, Pfeffer missed out by one slot with a 10th-place finish.

“The best part about the Tournament of Champions experience was being included in such an elite group of contestants and then meeting and making friends with such an amazing group of people,” she said. “The other contestants were smart, witty and very nice. I enjoyed hanging out with them during the tournament, and then after the tournament was over, we all went to a local pub and played pub trivia together, which was probably my favorite part of the whole journey.”

Pfeffer flew to Los Angeles for the show with her husband and a good friend from work on a Sunday and returned home on a Thursday.

While there was not a lot of free time, they did get to take a long bike ride on the beach and spend a day at Universal Studios Hollywood.

Pfeffer, who also was previously on Who Wants To Be a Millionaire? in 2011, is not counting out another chance on TV in the future.

“I would love to do another game show,” she said. “I’ve already done the two that appealed to me most, but I’ll be keeping my eyes open for other tryout opportunities.”

A Grant County Healthcare Leader Since 1964

Grant County Drugs co-founder, pharmacist Bob Wallace, is celebrating 50 years in business at Grant County Drugs in Dry Ridge.

Bob, who grew up in Butler, received his pharmacy degree from the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy in 1961. Following his graduation, he served in the United States Navy as a corpsman pharmacist.

After the Navy, Bob returned to Kentucky in 1964, and partnered with Larry Spears to open Grant County Drugs, on Main Street in Dry Ridge. From the beginning Bob and Larry emphasized customer service, providing 24 hour emergency service and partnering with local doctors to provide personalized prescription service. The pharmacy soon outgrew its initial location. In 1969, Grant County Drugs opened a new and larger building, which is still home to the pharmacy at 24 South Main Street.

Among many milestones, Grant County Drugs paved the way as the first pharmacy in Kentucky to have a fully computerized pharmacy prescription records system. And Grant County Drugs was one of the first pharmacies in the state to open a drive-through window to provide patients another convenient way to pick-up their prescriptions.

Grant County Drugs was recognized in 1999 by Drug Topics magazine as an "Independent Superstar." The prestigious national honor was awarded for "exceptional pharmacy and non-pharmacy service," recognizing the success of the core principle of Grant County Drugs, taking care of the needs of its patients.

Bob's son Jason started at the pharmacy in 1995 as a pharmacy technician. After receiving his degree as a doctor of pharmacy from the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy, Jason became a pharmacist at Grant County Drugs in 1999, and soon thereafter, became his dad's partner in the pharmacy operation. Five years later, Jason was instrumental in opening Grant County Drugs second location on Barnes Road, near St. Elizabeth Medical Center Grant County and the St. Elizabeth Physicians in Williamstown. In 2009, a third pharmacy location opened on Violet Road in Crittenden, near the St. Elizabeth Physicians Crittenden office. Grant County Drugs most recent expansion was opening a Medicare accredited home medical equipment showroom in 2013 in the back of Grant County Drugs Williamstown off Barnes Road.

Fifty years after founding Grant County Drugs, Bob Wallace is still in the pharmacy daily, practicing his guiding principle for his pharmacy, take care of each of your patients in the best way possible.
